

RUSH UNIVERSITY

The Occupational Therapy Department invites you to:

Powerful Practice: Planning and Implementing Authentic Occupational Therapy Services

Presented by Professor Anne G. Fisher, ScD, OT, FAOTA

Building on the new text Powerful Practice: A Model for Authentic Occupational Therapy (Fisher & Marterella, 2019; included in course price), the course will address how occupational therapists reason about the complexity of occupation using the new Transactional Model of Occupation. Additionally, participants will be led through the use of the Occupational Therapy Intervention Process Model (OTIPM) to guide the implementation of authentic occupational therapy services, along with much more.

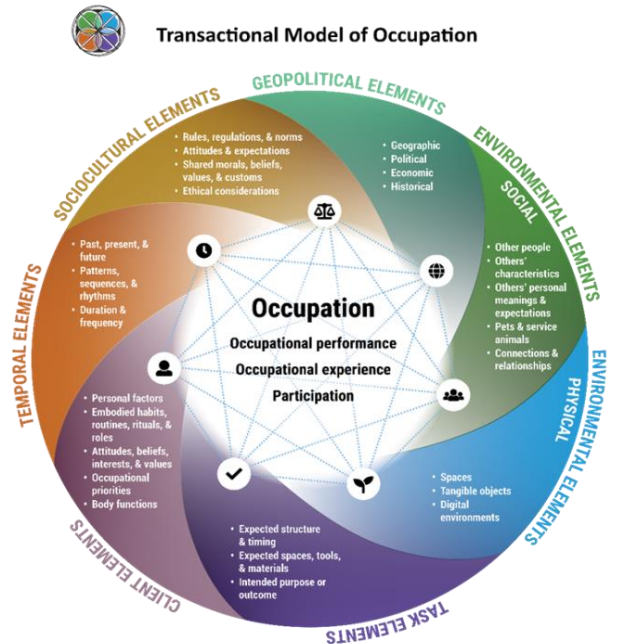

This 3-day course (18 CEU) is ideal for occupational therapy clinicians, educators, students, and researchers who want to do more to harness the power of occupation and implement authentic occupational therapy services.
